Training comes with the peace of mind of accreditation from the world's biggest name in vocational training & education. City & Guilds is a nationally recognised training organisation known for rigorous adherence to professional standards.

Training is assessed and successful completion of each block in the 3 block structure is recognised with personal certification.

Delegates are able to select training that is specific to their role or position within an organisation. Governing and supervisory bodies are referenced throughout the course and you will be given guidance regarding current legislation and responsibilities. Presentations are supported with many practical examples and hands on demonstrations using the latest equipment. Courses are conducted at R82 UK's approved training centre in Halesowen.
